Consequences

STATEMENTS that American interests were threatened by the troubles in Europe have been discounted by "isolationists" as largely academic. Probably they seem less academic now that American business men are clamoring at Washington over the seizure of their goods and the hampering of their activities in the Ruhr, by the French occupation forces. British merchants are making the same outcry. It puts a slightly different face on the situation. What we regarded with calm aloofness as, perhaps, an unfortunate incident with which we had no sympathy—and also no responsibility—changes its aspect when American business men appeal to the government for the protection which their citizenship guarantees them. No doubt the state department will protest. Possibly, if the French do not regard the issue as an important matter in connection with their control of the Ruhr, the protest may be heeded. It is also quite possible that it will be ignored or stalled. If we accept no responsibility in Europe, Europeans will not be much disturbed over responsibility for the security of American goods.

Thus does the coil of consequences entangle us, whether we like it or not, in the international affairs of the planet. Probably we should have been less entangled, almost certainly our entanglement would have been less uncomfortable to us, had the senate not rejected the treaty of guarantee to France against German invasion which Mr. Wilson brought back from Paris. The senate hardly even considered that arrangement. It was chucked out of the back door of the committee almost without a hearing. Yet it was the seed of the whole deplorable situation that now confronts us. France wants safety. She was willing to accept the word of the United States and England that if again attacked they would come to her defense. But we refused to promise, and England followed our lead. France is in the Ruhr to assure her own safety by what she considers the next best means—the crippling and disintegration of Germany.

We do not think that there is any permanent safety for France in the Ruhr policy. There is, ultimately, only greater danger. But we cannot ourselves escape a measure of responsibility for the situation. We slammed the door upon the saner solution which would have satisfied France.

Game Hogs vs. Fish Trust

REPRESENTATIVE Sutherland of Alaska has gone back home to the north spouting fire and brimstone against the department of the interior. He says a Chicago "fish trust" has got its fingers on the salmon fisheries of Alaska thanks to the connivance of the department. It sounds terrible, until one sees the other side of the shield. Then it appears that the department investigated and found that "game hog" methods of Alaskan fishermen were wiping out the fish, and promised to destroy the fisheries altogether within a few years. So in certain waters a "presidential reserve" was created, protecting the spawning fish, and thus preventing the race of salmon from dying out. Of course this makes certain fishermen, who were cleaning up by looting the fisheries, indignant. They are interested chiefly in lining their own pockets. What becomes of the next generation when the salmon disappear doesn't bother them. It may be, at that, that the big fisheries companies urged the government to act. Having a big investment threatened by the failure of the fisheries, they would naturally be anxious for anything that would prevent the collapse of the salmon industry. But how poisonous such a perfectly natural, and no doubt legitimate interest appears when given the proper demagogic twist. Are the "game hogs" any better than the "fish trust," from the standpoint of the rest of us? Ah—but they vote in Alaska, and the Chicago "fish trust" does not.

A Lenten Editorial

That Something

By JOHN NEWTON STRAIN,
North Presbyterian Church.

"NEVER man spake like this man." Such words of clearness; they cut with a keenness that amazed, while He possessed a repose, and a bearing that compelled the admiration and respect of all men. The manner of this bearing was modest, yet impressive. His very conversation breathed a purity that excited the imagination startling the conviction and forming a definite conception, this one speaks out of eternity and worlds unknown. It's that something, that strange, awe-inspiring, convincing conviction, that people dare not oppose, while officers sent on purpose to arrest return without Him. Pilate is profoundly convinced He is more than man. That something was superior, more human, more Godlike, wise and holy, impressive, than any man who has ever stood before Pilate. That something grips Pilate. He felt and acted as though in the presence of one who was his superior. There is a kind of awe, a reverence, that indicates he is questioning one greater than any earthly king, though accused as a malefactor. He treats Jesus as one superior in power and majesty to himself. He grows superstitious as if dealing with some unknown divinity—whom he knows not, and he can not so much as give his mere negative sentence against Jesus, pagan though he be, without first washing his hands as religiously as the most devout Pharisee, to clear himself of all guilt in this transaction.

That same something impressed the Roman centurion, who kept guard by the cross, that the bearing of this man was not that of mere man, and he also bore witness out of the depths of his own conviction, though but dimly understood, "Truly this was the Son of God." True the rabble throng, insult and jeer, always the acts of cowardice, cowards thus set themselves to go through with the task they have set themselves to accomplish. Only a few hours ago they trembled to find themselves facing Jesus, and even in the garden when they arrest Him, they fall backward to the ground. Though He lived some two thousand years ago, that same something is in the world, and whenever it takes possession of men, all men recognize it, though they can not define or describe it. It's that that makes life happy, contented, worthwhile of all who seek to do the will of Him whose plan for life brought all good. Is this the spirit we find in the Lenten season? Can we discern the way to find it?

Her Children

By MARTHA MCILLICHOE WILLIAMS

Leota ran down the orchard path, humming and thinking her steps to bechant: "Mister Bluster he loves sugar and tea."

Mister Bluster he loves candy; Mister Bluster he can wheel and turn. And bow to the ladies—dandy! Coffee grows on our trees; The rivers run with brand-dee! The rocks and the hills are washed in gold. And the gals are—as sweet as—can-dy!

"Stop! That thing is indelicate in this prohibition era!" Major Lee said rising upon his one elbow to frown at his young cousin. "Wonder could re-incarnation be made to work backward?" he went on, "if it could I'd try it—sure and certain."

"Whereabout would you get off in Time's backward flight?" Leota asked.

He sighed. "You're quite too sudden. The fault of extreme youth. But—let me see! I think about seventy years back, when great-grand-dad had his own orchard, still his own bees, and made every year lash-ins of peace and honey—if he was a preacher."

"If I don't be such a piker!" Leota retorted. "why not go to court—drink with the regent—or even King Charles? Every noble dandy had a still-room all her own in those brave days."

"But somehow, I don't fancy mead and methoglin and such, by report. Give me brown October and a color, full, laid down when I was born, to be brought when I come of age," the major said, sighing reflectively. Leota smiled at him—but somehow her lips quivered the least bit as she quoted:

"When it came for slaughter, You will do your work on water. And you'll like the bloomin' boots of 'im that got it."

"Stop!" the major cried impatiently, springing half upright. "You—you make me remember—and I must forget."

"I'm sorry—so sorry," Leota whispered apologetically. "Do forgive me; I didn't think—"

"Need to be forgiven—for cowardice," her cousin interrupted. "I am ashamed of myself—"

"You mustn't be, I know," the girl said soothingly, rising and holding a hand to help him to his feet. He would not take it, but came upright at last in a hark, scrambling struggle, yet smiling at her, saying: "Young woman understand I'm not a pulling infant, neither quite senile; stop baby-ing me or I'll lose my amiability."

"I don't believe you're a man of full age and judgment," Leota cried, eager to meet his change of mood. "If you were, you'd surely be sitting pretty all day and every day. 'Long-side Miss Joseph Maclen. She's willing as daylight—also ready and waiting. And she has got two hundred thousand mighty sound dollars—and a father, let us hope in Heaven. Don't you feel it your duty to fetch that money into the family?"

O'BRIEN BACK TO HIS FIRST LOVE

When Eugene O'Brien affixed his signature to the two year contract with George M. Eugene O'Brien was a favorite with Broadway's first nighters and regular theatregoers many years previous to his success in the picture field. It is said that in his present role of "Steve" he has a part that was written especially for him and affords him an unusual opportunity to display his artistic charm in every way. Mr. Galt's has engaged Mrs. Thomas Whitten as Mr. O'Brien's leading support which numbers some fifteen distinguished players.

SEEK LUMBERJACK BANDITS

HURLEY, Wis.—Upon the information given by William West, treasurer of Cary, Wis., who was recently held up and robbed of $1,500 of the township tax fund, Iron county officials are conducting a search for the two lumberjack bandits, whom West said took the money at the point of a gun.

The robbery occurred when West was walking from Cary to Hurley to put the money in a Hurley bank. West's appearance substantiates his story. He is badly scratched and there is an enormous lump on his head indicating that he put up a good scrap before he was overpowered.

Christ in history. There is a fact—face it!

Meditation: History proves the truth of this paradox. Jesus' way of living has been clearly justified throughout the centuries. The one who serves others, gains all that is most worthwhile, and takes first place in the kingdom where character counts. The one who serves self makes only temporary gains and loses all that has permanent value.

Hymn: Take my love, my Lord, I pour At thy feet thy treasure-store: Take myself, and I will be Ever, only, all for thee!

Prayer: O Lord, grant all who contend for the faith never to injure it by clamor and impatience; but, speaking thy precious truth in love, so to present it that it may be loved. Amen.

REEDSBURG PUSHED TO SPILL HOLMEN ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Holmenites in Rousing Come-back After Merciless Defeat in First Periods

SCORE 24 OF POINTS IN SECOND HALF OF CONTEST

REEDSBURG High school came through to play La Crosse in the finals for district championship when they defeated Holmen in a very fast and exciting game. Friday night which was not won until the final gun, Reedsburg was given a hard fight by the stubborn Holmen team who climbed from a hopeless defeat in the first half to a 2-0 point minority in the second period, starting the most exciting comeback yet seen in the tournament. Reedsburg capped the game 24 to 26. Their speedy exhibition of ball gives their next opponent every reason to fear them.

Reedsburg's game with La Crosse Saturday night for first honors promises to create some loud noise and enthusiasm among the fans. It will not be a walkover for La Crosse. In the opinion of many local fans, the Reedsburg game somewhat similar to that used by Coach Keogan's squad.

The first half of the Reedsburg-Holmen game was somewhat of a passover on the part of the former. At the end of the first quarter the winners had 10 points to Holmen's single field goal. In the second quarter Reedsburg added 7 more points and Holmen still had 2 points. Holmen seemed to lack the pep which was so outstanding in their first game. Reedsburg was playing a deliberate and consistent game. They were greatly surprised at the comeback of the Holmenites in the third period. The latter opened up an attack that was bewildering. The crowd cheered Holmen on after their awakening and at the end of the third period Holmen had raised their score to 14 points to Reedsburg's 27. Besides keeping up the good work on the offensive the Holmen gang tightened up on their defense and held their opponents to a limit of 7 more points. Teamwork became very evident with the Holmen team and a series of short shots in quick succession brought their score to 26 points. With only a minute left they resorted to long shots which were accompanied with some good luck but Reedsburg had acquired too big a lead in the first part of the game to allow their opponents to pass them by. Although Holmen took the consolation prize for their wonderful comeback and hard work.

Murphy-Wolfe Star
Murphy and Wolfe both played a whole of a game for the winners. Their team-leadership, speed and excellent support with their speed and goal knowledge of the game, they were recognized as the most hardy opposition for the locals in the tournament. Tolvstad again showed up great for the Holmen five with an action not far in his wake, and Tolvstad also gave an exhibition of good dribbling.

LA CROSSE WALKS OFF WITH 42 TO 2 WIN FROM WESTBY

Moen Saves Aggregation from Whitewash With One Field Goal

LA CROSSE OFFENSIVE HAS LITTLE DIFFICULTY

Locals to Enter Finals Against Reedsburg

In the second game of the afternoon Friday, La Crosse hurled Westby under a score of 42 to 2. Moen saved his team from receiving a whitewash by the hands of La Crosse, when he slipped in a basket in the early part of the first half.

The game proved to be rather a rout. La Crosse started out with the same rush that has made them a favorite of the tourists, but immediately upon taking the field, they were met by a very hot defense. The game proved to be rather a rout. La Crosse started out with the same rush that has made them a favorite of the tourists, but immediately upon taking the field, they were met by a very hot defense.

The La Crosse offensive was never to be stopped. Koshak, Harget and Wheaton all played stellar games, the former showing good form at forward. He is a lanky boy and also a good and sure shot under the basket. Weigert at guard is one of the best in the league and it was largely through his efforts that Westby failed to make more than one field goal. Regier who played "Salto" guard, stopped everything coming his way. He sustained a bad cut over the eye but continued the game. Coach Keogan used every man in a suit. Miller went in for Wheaton at center and gave good account of himself. He was only in for a quarter and slugged up five field goals. Frey also got in for awhile and played a nice game.

La Crosse, because of their victory, will be entered in the final game Saturday night against Reedsburg and are strong favorites. Reedsburg, however will put up a good fight, but the opinion is that they will not be able to stand the gaff and pace that La Crosse will set.

MENDELSONN IS GIVEN DECISION OVER SCHAUER

Milwaukee is Aggressor While Both Men are Willing Mixers

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Johnny Mendelsonn, Milwaukee lightweight, was given the newspaper decision over Johnny Schauer, Minneapolis, at the end of a five round boxing bout here Friday night. The boys were willing mixers from start to finish. Mendelsonn was the aggressor and in several periods caused his opponent to back away.

The semi-wind-up between Jack Schoendorf, Milwaukee, and Mickey Perkins, Chicago welterweights, was awarded to the Milwaukee man by a shade. Johnny O'Donnell, Minneapolis, easily defeated Jack O'Toole, Minneapolis, in six rounds.

Crowd in Uproar as Game Hangs in Balance to End

In one of the most exciting games played off in the La Crosse Normal district high school tournament, Galesville High school barely nosed out the Mauston High quintet 18 to 17.

Galesville, presenting a smashing attack at the very beginning, assumed the lead by a small margin for two periods of the game but in the third quarter the Mauston gang stepped out at a faster pace and led the score of 15 to 10 at the end of the period.

Galesville recuperated in the final period, however, and two minutes before the final whistle, they again required the lead by two points. After a minute and a half of whirled play in which both teams sought dilatory to sink a long shot, Mauston scored one point on a free throw. In the half minute that remained neither team was able to score and Galesville with their one point majority remained in the running for third place.

Play Passing Game
Galesville maintained a strictly passing game with only short shots in this game while their opponents took a large number of long tries at the basket from the center of the floor all through the game. Out of all their long shots, Mauston made about 15 per cent of them. This lack of shooting was the only consolation Galesville had. Mauston had good chances on numerous occasions to take the lead right under their noses but although their teamwork was effective as far as the twenty-foot line, they were content to shoot from that range. They also neglected to follow in the long shots as Galesville team did.

The first quarter of the game was fast and with combined headwork and accurate passing the Galesville team had possession of the ball the majority of the time. They led by one point at the end of the quarter, 4 to 3. At the half time they were still ahead 9 to 5. Galesville lost some of their pep in the next period and their defense weakened. Mauston then closed in with shorter shots and at the end of the period were in the lead, 15 to 10. In the final quarter both teams came back strong and the crowd was enthusiastic. Galesville soon resumed the lead by one basket and the game hung in a balance. It was fought to a hard finish with Galesville in possession of the good old horse-shoe and they held their position in the race for third place.

Johnson Leads Winners
Johnson was the leading factor of the Galesville quintet. He played a heady game which netted him four field goals. Herberg also played a good game but had some hard luck in his free throws, counting only 4 out of his 8 chances. Spaulding put up a game fight for the losers.

SEATS SELLING IN NUMBERS FOR NEXT LEGION SHOW HERE

Indications are that House Will Again Be Sold Out Before Friday Night

Seats for the Gill-Rollinger fight at the Legion hall next Friday night are selling in numbers for the next Legion show here.

Placed on sale at the S. & H. Clear store Wednesday morning and from the way they are going, it is evident that the house will be sold out before the day of the fight.

Earl Condit, sporting writer of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, had the following to say of their former engagement:

"Long Rollinger, who first saw light only 15 years ago, and whose record shows but seven fights, did something last night that no fighter has done in Jimmy Gill's ring experience. The full, clean-looking chap from Waterloo drove several terrific right hands to Gill's jaw in the fifth round, and after the final thrust, the La Crosse water had prostrate on the canvas. Referee Killian loudly called off the seconds. Until the last few seconds of the fourth round, there had been little to choose between the boys, but with the timelier reaching for the gun, Rollinger flashed over a wild right, and the beginning of the end was at hand.

Gill Revives
Gill went down under the terrific wallop, but regained his feet at the count of eight. Another similar blow drove him to the resined floor just as

DRIVE ON ALCOHOL WON BY LADY ASTOR IN BRITISH COMMONS

Bill Barring Sale of Intoxicants to Youths Under Eighteen is Advanced

LONDON.—The bill sponsored by Lady Astor, to prohibit the sale of intoxicants to youths under 18 for consumption on the premises where it is sold, passed its second reading in the house of commons Friday afternoon by a vote of 238 to 59, after a long and heated debate.

Lady Astor, in moving the second reading of the bill, declared the measure was designed to protect adolescents—children, self-control and restraints of resistance, and remove boys and girls from the environment of the public house. It was already illegal, she pointed out, to sell liquor to those under 21, and her bill merely changed the age limit, because it was generally recognized that people were still youths at 18.

Are Children Till 18? Lady Astor declared, "You men are children and we women love you because you are children."

She declared the bill was not in any sense her bill, as Lord Bryce had introduced it two years ago. The medical men of all countries, she said, were agreed as to the danger of alcohol during the period of adolescence.

Regarding the suggestion that the act should apply to only one sex, Lady Astor declared sex discrimination in this subject should not be tolerated.

There were similar measures in all the dominions and in Sweden, Norway and Poland, she said.

Appeals for Youth

Lady Astor ended her speech with a passionate appeal that the bill be passed for the benefit of "our glorious, adventurous youth," which, when rightly led and guided, is most in spirit, but when wrongly led is most harmful.

Walter Greaves Lord, conservative member of the Norwood division of Lambeth, moved the rejection of the bill, declaring it was merely an attempt to go for absolute prohibition.

Col. Martin Archer Shee, conservative, in opposing the bill, declared it was his belief that the movement was largely supported by American money. This brought murmurs of dissent from the house.

CHILDREN DEAD FROM HUNGER AND EXPOSURE

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Two children of the Frank Fisher family, the eight members of which were found and died together in a cold room without food, are dead from exposure at Pontiac, a small village near here.

The father and mother and six children were ill with bronchial pneumonia and help came too late to save the oldest boy, who lay on the floor of the cold room dressed in the only clothing he had when he died, and a child of four, and both of them died soon after they were found.

MILWAUKEE PUCKSTERS WIN
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The Milwaukee Athletic club defeated the Marquette, Michigan, hockey team here Friday night, 1 to 0. The goal was scored in the last minute of play.

FIGHT ON THEATER STARTS FIGHT ON MOVIES IN SCHOOL

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Fighting back in response to an attempt to prevent the establishment of a motion picture house in shoreward, Milwaukee's exclusive residential suburb, an order to show cause why exhibition of movies by the village school board should not be enjoined, was issued in circuit court here Friday. The complaint charges the school board with indulging in whims, fads and fancies and giving display to "half-baked notions." Misuse of the school building for the "pretended" teaching of radio courses and of a business course without any attendance at all are also charged.

RISE RECORDED IN GRAIN PRICES FOR WEEK JUST CLOSING

Upward Trend Influenced by Reports of Smaller Farm
Reserves than Supposed

(CHICAGO, Ill.)—With farm reserves of wheat many million bushels smaller than until late had been generally supposed, wheat this week has risen in price for the May delivery, representing wheat already on hand. Later deliveries meaning wheat to be harvested this summer and fall, have eased down a bit influenced by improvement in the crop outlook. Compared with a week ago, when prices this morning ranged from 5.3c decline to 1.1-1.4c advance, corn was unchanged to 7-8c higher, oats off 1-8 and 1-10 to 2-25 cents gain.

First disclosure of the approximate amount of wheat held on farms came in an estimate by an expert here whose figures are widely accepted among traders. In this case the unofficial estimate, which was virtually identical with the government report, issued three days later, pointed to an increased domestic consumption of 33,000,000 bushels as compared with last year. Rain and snow furnished help for soil conditions in the greater part of the winter wheat belt, although failing to give much relief in portions of Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Only a transient downturn in wheat values resulted from efforts to conserve the government report as hearsay in regard to wheat. The efforts were based on comparison with last year's total of farm reserves of wheat, an amount 10,000,000 bushels less than the present aggregate.

Corn and oats were weakened by the fact that stocks of corn at Chicago are double the general average. Heavy exports of land gave a decided lift to provisions, and touching a new high price record for the season.

CASINO TODAY
When Chester Bonnell, noted motion picture producer, selected the cast for his most recent production starring Jane Novak and called "The Snowshoe Trail," he exercised the utmost caution in choosing the various types to fit the more important roles with the result that his careful discrimination is plainly reflected in the brilliant work of the players on the screen of the Casino theater where this stirring drama of the north lands is being presented.

"NOBODY'S MONEY"
Not only does William LeBaron's creative story-telling genius come to the screen in the picture version of "Nobody's Money," starring Jack Holt, which comes to the Rivoli theater next Sunday, but much of the humorous dialogue that has made famous the play by LeBaron has been transferred to the silver screen by way of the titles.

Wanda Hawley is the girl opposite Mr. Holt and Julia Faye, Robert Schable, Harry Depp, Josephine Crowell, Eileen Manning, Will R. Walling and James Neill are in the cast.

"BROAD DAYLIGHT"
A story of the underworld written by newspapermen who studied the underworld for years before they thought of writing, directed by a man graduated from the ranks of famous actors and enacted by players of wide popularity comes to the Majestic theater next Sunday.

Universal offers "Broad Daylight" as a special feature of the underworld.

Harvey Gates and George W. Papper, newspapermen and crime investigators, long before they were film writers, wrote the story.

"Broad Daylight" pictures the two ends to a crook's picture, the grey dawn of death and the "broad daylight" of reason.

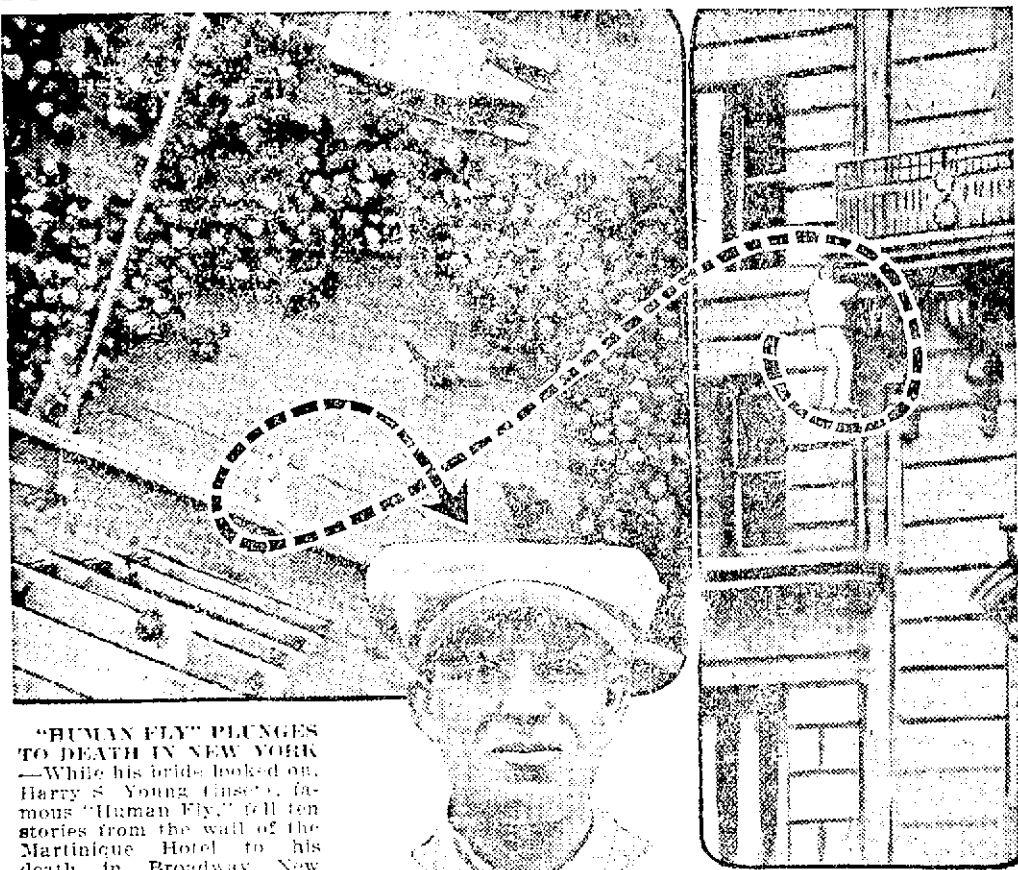

STRAND TODAY
The idea that our strenuous twentieth century life is sapping the vitality of the race and taking toll of future generations is all hosh, according to Mae Murray, the blonde motion picture star whose latest picture, "Jazzmania," is at the Strand theater.

She recently expressed her impatience with those who are crying for "the good old days," "the quiet life," "a return to Puritan simplicity."

"Far be it from me to set myself up as an H. C. Wells," said Miss Murray, "but I have an idea that the conditions under which each generation lives, the life which it adopts, is the COOL—AT FIRE—While fire raged on the hospital roof at Lincoln, Mass., Dr. A. C. Johnson, shown here, calmly went ahead with a serious operation. Before he'd finished, the blaze was quenched. The operation was successful. Yes, the patient lived.

A GALLANT RESCUE—For 24 hours the crew of the five-masted Adolf Vinnen clung to the rigging before they were rescued by heroic life savers off the English coast. Photo shows the wrecked ship almost completely submerged.

REBELS DESTROY IRISH WATERWORKS—The latest form of violence in Ireland is the systematic destruction of municipal waterworks by the followers of De Valera. Here is all that is left of the municipal waterworks in historic Athlone after a rebel bomb had exploded.

LATEST SEIZURE BY FRENCH—In reprisal for sabotage in the occupied district, French troops have seized Karlsruhe, one of the most important manufacturing cities in Germany. Photo shows a scene of Karlsruhe taken from the former castle of the grand duke of Baden.

FIRST IS LAST—Major J. W. Downer, commander of the first U. S. Army unit to enter France and the officer who directed the first American shot fired in the war, returned to this country with Major-General Allen and the last of the Rhine contingent of American troops.

ON TRIAL—Mrs. Mary E. Wells, Florida girl known as "Billy Wells," will go on trial March 12 charged with the murder of Captain James S. Pettit, former owner of the Massapequa Inn, Long Island. Captain Pettit was shot to death at Mineola, Long Island, January 8.

STARTING THE FLOW OF BOOZE TO AMERICA—Wharves in Nassau, Bahama Islands, are piled high with cases of liquor ready for transport to the "booze fleet" in the harbor. This photo gives some idea of the amount of liquor ready for the booze-runners who scoff at the idea of capture by revenue agents.

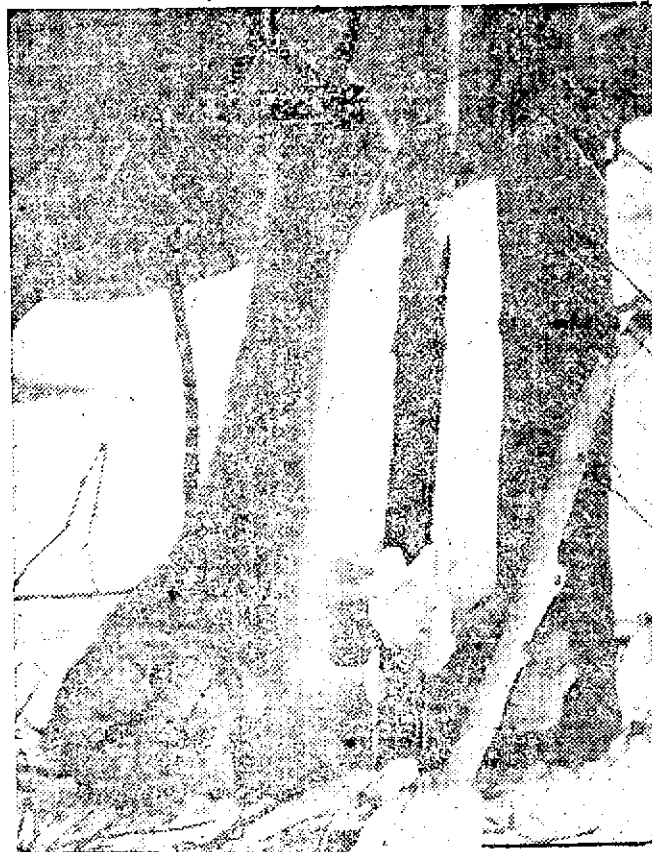

BROADWAY HOLDS CORN BELT BEAUTY—When Alyce McCormick of Omaha was declared the most beautiful girl in Nebraska and came to New York as the guest of the milliners' convention, Broadway set up and took notice. The famous street has decided to hold her for a while and "Miss Omaha" will appear in musical comedy.

MAY SUE—Harry A. Walderstein, former service man of Washington, D. C., may sue Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway of Arkansas for injuries alleged to have been inflicted when Caraway attacked him after a dispute in a Capitol street car.

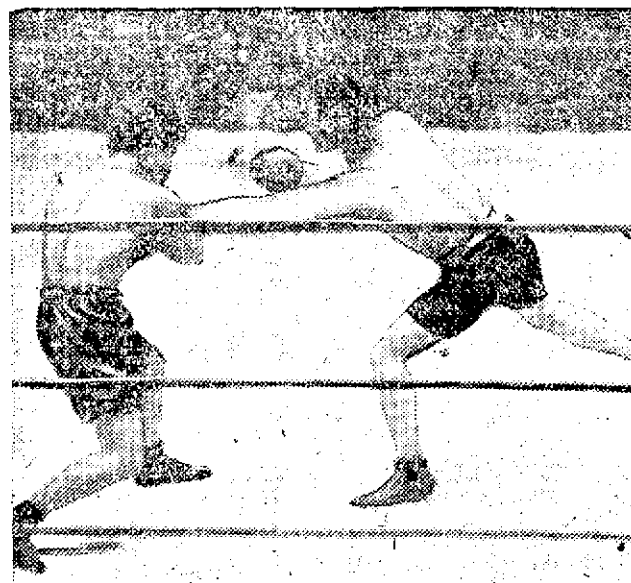

BENAVENTE—Jacinto Benavente, the great Spanish dramatist and winner of the Nobel prize, is shown here as he arrived in New York. He is about to tour America, lecturing in the leading universities.

FACES SLAYER OF HUSBAND—In the rear of the New York court where Mrs. Paulotto Saludes is on trial for her life, Mrs. Oscar Martelliere, widow of the slain insurance broker, sits with her child, Merlyn, and bears the legal sequel to the shooting of her husband last July.

FORD Runabout

$269

F. O. B. Detroit.

It seems almost unbelievable—$269 (f. o. b. Detroit) for the Ford Runabout, with one man top and slanting windshield. The low price, the economy of upkeep and wonderful dependability of the Ford Runabout make it the most dependable and economical means of transportation you can employ.

A time-saver and money-maker for salesmen.

Come in and see it. Act now if you want reasonably prompt delivery.
